PREDICTION

TENERIFE, 2006

“We’re in a free fall into future. We don’t know where we are going. Things are changing so fast and always, when you are going through a long tunnel, anxiety comes along. And all you have to do to transform your hell into a paradise is to turn your fall into a voluntary act. Joyful participation in sorrow and everything changes.”

Making the transition from one era to the next is never easy. The path is treacherous and unknown, but well-worn as change is inevitable and necessary. We are crossing such a bridge just now, as we transfer our energies from Pluto in Sagittarius to Pluto in Capricorn.

Things went very wrong for the majority of the world when Pluto was in Sagittarius. It didn't have to be so, and many people, I'm sure, used the energy in its positive form, growing spiritually, acquiring internal resources, increasing their energies, making their chakras spin faster for longevity. But the majority did not. Consequently we are left with all the negativity available with Pluto in Sagittarius. Remember, every sign, every transit, every planetary energy has both a negative and a positive charge, as does everything on this planet. Reread the first chapter of Genesis, if you will, to be reminded that every thing has two sides, black and white, male and female, water and land, heaven and earth, etc, etc. One of the big lessons we can learn from Pluto in any sign is that there is no right or wrong, black or white. Pluto in its negative form thrives on obsession and opinion. People with strong Pluto energy in their chart learn to live in the gray area in the center. This can be their source of power if they find that area. But my experience with doing thousands of charts over the years has

AUTUMN CALENDAR

This year the Autumn equinox on September 23rd arrives with a lot of light. Venus will be at it's brightest with a 4.6 magnitude, there will be a full moon, and lots of energy connections between the outer planets, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto, and including Jupiter and Saturn. All of them are hovering near 0 degrees of their signs and except for Saturn, all are retrograde. It's like we are in a waiting pattern, warming up, if you will, for some big event. Do we have all our equipment, all our gear, are we ready? As I write this Pluto is the first to go direct, on Sept 14th and carves the pathway for change. Jupiter and Uranus are conjunct in Pisces, getting ready to move into Aries in January and March respectively next year. More new beginnings. This combination can bring good luck, daring-do, stubbornness and courage. Mars joins Venus when it goes into Scorpio on the 15th coinciding with Pluto's direct motion giving a big boost to one's urgency to act--as usual for good or for bad. It's also very sexy.

On October 8th, Venus turns retrograde. What an interesting planet Venus is. Long the source of native American Indian lore (an other ancient cultures as well), Venus has an unusual optical effect on the sky viewer. It is seen as both a morning star and an evening star at different times in its cycle around the Sun. The Mayans called its morning star phase Quetzalcoatl, "the feathered serpent," who came to earth and lived as a man and that the evening star represented his life. In March of this year, Venus became an evening star and as the summer progressed became brighter and brighter until Aug 20th. Did you notice? On Oct 28th Venus will disappear while it is between the Sun and the earth, but in early November will reappear as a morning star. The serpent god comes to earth once more!

In November Venus once again turns direct on the 19th as does Jupiter at 23 degrees Pisces. These are the two benevolent planets, considered good luck and joyous so Oct 19th could be your lucky day!

Neptune turns direct on November 7th at 25 degrees Aquarius, leaving only Uranus retrograde until early December.

We won't have another Mercury retrograde until Dec 11th through the 30th, during the Winter Solstice and related holidays so do your homework soon, making all arrangements beforehand. This retrograde Mercury occurs in the early degrees of Capricorn and late degrees of Sagittarius which are energized degrees from the other planets so this turn around might be more likely to bug you. It doesn't hurt to take precautions, which is the whole point of astrology: forewarned is forearmed.

Other energies of note are that Saturn will square the Moon's node at 9 degrees Capricorn. The nodes are, among other things, turning points, opportunities to move forward at the cost of letting go of the past. They often represent developmental times in a person's life. When Saturn is involved the development usually occurs in one's business sector. Since this is a global transit, the whole planet will enjoy it, I would suspect that there will be major political changes, or turning points for politicians or business leaders. Pluto will be at 7 degrees next year, and since Saturn is "carrying the light" we might see some big event.

taught me that the spiritually committed person is the one who will find that neutral space.

Now transfer these ideas to the general population of the planet. When we look back we discover that most people chose to live in either the black or the white. Those in the dark side became greedy, (consider the banks, the politics of self serving) self-righteous (consider the religious violence) entitled (consider the litigious society especially here in the U.S. and also the various areas of entitlement seen among all strata of society)

In short we could say, "People, generally, want something for nothing." What's interesting is that people on the white side have their own problems. With Pluto in Sagittarius this group lived in illusion, ignoring the problems, thinking, perhaps, that they could pray them away, or that they would just go away. Carl Jung coined a wonderful word: "Enantiodromia" which means a 'running to the opposite.' What he had observed is that people who become too one-sided eventually will switch their position to the other side. A very common example I have seen is the problem of alcoholism in a dysfunctional family. If the husband is the drinker and the wife the shrew to make him stop, when the husband stops, the wife becomes the alcoholic. So it is in the general as it is in the specific. Yogananda speaks about illusion and fanaticism as being the antithesis of spirituality.

Interestingly, illusion and fanaticism are opposite sides of the coin and feed on each other.

So along comes the energy of Pluto in Capricorn, blowing a hole in the entire premise that was created by Pluto in Sag. The ruler of Sagittarius is Jupiter. Here I quote from Ebertin: "The urge to expand, enlargement, ownership, optimism, moral and religious aspirations, and, injustice, anti-social conduct, amoral behavior, craving for pleasure, greed, materialism. Also civil servants, ecclesiastical and bank representatives, wealthy persons, religious characters." It's amazing how it fits. The something for nothing attitude prevailed. So there is a running to the opposite with Capricorn energy. Now we see the struggle for life that so many are experiencing, as well as the persistence, perseverance, patience and rebuilding. It all seems harsh but is so necessary. Yogananda reminds us that "the planet Earth is a hospital where sick people go, and when they get well they can leave." Adano Ley reminds us that this planet

"is the garbage pit of the zodiac where we come to be recycled."

Which brings us to why we are here on this planet, anyway. Yogandanda and Adano

PREDICTION

"In fifty years we will all go to sleep like Rip Van Winckle and when we awake and return to the cities we will find they are run by the 9 years young."

This was later changed to In 25 years..."

indicate we are sick and needing to be recycled, changed into something useful, becoming part of the solution, not the problem, willing to be constructive. Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, the French monk indicated that humans are like a fungus on the planet. Luckily some fungi are useful! But we're not on this planet for naught; we are not left alone, we have unlimited help if we were to use it. We are told that this world is a projection and we know how. We know from the help that we are given by the "Directors" that our pineal, medulla and pituitary are the glands that create the movie. The script comes in through the medulla, the pineal creates the light and the pituitary projects it onto the screen. It's all just a movie. And so believable just as it is when we go to the movies. Doesn't our heart beat faster when the heroine is in danger? Don't we cry when the good guy dies? But it's a movie, for heaven's sake! So there we are: it's all inside us and we can change it by changing our minds. And Papaji reminds us that this planet is the transit lounge at the airport. Don't make it your residence: it's a passing through place.

“To state that the world is a dream, without trying to attain in meditation actual realization of this truth, may lead one to fanaticism. The wise man understands that even though mortal life is a dream, it contains dream pains. He adopts scientific methods to awaken from the dream.”
